

Testimonial

For Mr. Kamal Shah / HME Communication

Since the beginning of 2010 Mr. Kamal Shah from HME Communication has regularly supported the Corporate Communications department of Lufthansa Technik in the local and regional media activities at major air shows and special events in the Middle East.

The quality and output of Lufthansa Technik's media activities have been very positively influenced by Mr. Shah's extremely professional work and comprehensive understanding of the international aviation business and the local media landscape. Kamal Shah has always shown a great flexibility and engagement in his support and has always been able to deliver excellent results also on short notice enquiries. His professional understanding of Lufthansa Technik's PR-needs have been very helpful during the preparation of different media activities like press conferences, signing ceremonies, media trips and the preparation or distribution of press releases. In the future, Lufthansa Technik's Corporate Communications department will surely cooperate again with Kamal Shah.

About Lufthansa Technik:

The Lufthansa Technik Group, with more than 30 subsidiaries and about 26,000 employees worldwide, is one of the leading manufacturer-independent providers of services for the aviation industry. Lufthansa Technik is licensed internationally as a repair, production and development enterprise. The Group's portfolio encompasses the entire spectrum of services in the areas of maintenance, repair, overhaul, modification and conversion, engines and components.

Hamburg, 6th of June 2011

Bernd Habbel
Head of Corporate Communications
Lufthansa Technik AG